The featured book on June 23rd will be Shark vs. Train by Chris Barton. Storytime at the Station is free and open to the public. Space is limited and reservations are encouraged. The Seaboard Station Railroad Museum is located at 326 North Main Street in downtown historic Suffolk, Virginia. Originally the building, built in 1885, operated as a passenger station until 1968 and continued as a freight station through the 1980s.

After years of sitting vacant and suffering a nearly devastating fire, the depot fell into a state of disrepair. Completely restored to its original stately grandeur by the Suffolk-Nansemond Historical Society, the museum stands as one of Suffolk’s most beautiful and most beloved landmarks.

Seaboard Station Railroad Museum is operated by Suffolk Tourism and is open daily, 10am-5pm. Closed Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year’s Day. Learn more at VisitSuffolkVa.com. 757.514.4135.
