New Bed and Breakfast Opens in Suffolk

SUFFOLK, Virginia (October 28, 2011) - Innkeepers Allen and Debbie Bryant, along with Mayor Linda T. Johnson, will hold a ribbon cutting and grand opening ceremony, which is open to the public, for their new bed and breakfast – Meadowbrook Farm. The event will be held on Saturday, October 29, 2011 at 11 a.m. The bed and breakfast is situated within historic Chuckatuck at 700 Kings Highway.

Meadowbrook Farm sits on thirty acres of property surrounded by lush pastures and extensive vegetable and fruit gardens. Sitting areas are provided throughout so guests can enjoy the peaceful surroundings for as long as they'd like. Built in 1948, the bed and breakfast offers two bedrooms with an adjacent bath in the main house and a guest cottage which has one room and one suite, each with a private bath.

“When Allen and I bought this property 15 years ago, our dream was to open a B&B after retiring from our engineering careers. We look forward to welcoming our guests and serving gourmet breakfasts featuring our home grown fruits, vegetables, and fresh eggs.”

“Meadowbrook Farm is a great addition to our growing number of hospitality locations in Suffolk,” said Mayor Linda T. Johnson. “We thank Allen and Debbie Bryant for opening up their beautiful home to give guests visiting our area a place that has character and charm.”
