

NEWS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 5, 2012

Contact:

Diana L. Klink
757.514.4104
757.359.1845

Tim Kelley
757.514.4103
757.871.3039

EMAIL, ANYONE?

SUFFOLK, VA (January 5, 2012) Would you like to learn how email works and how to maneuver the tricks of the email trade? The North Suffolk Public Library is hosting an Introduction to Email class on Thursday, February 23, 2012, starting at 9 a.m.

Email plays an important part in our lives today from keeping in touch with friends and family, sharing photographs of loved ones, online shopping, and even employment. This class will cover a basic introduction to Gmail and help participants setup their own email account.

Basic computer skills are required for this class which is free and open to the public. Registration is required and begins Monday, February 13, 2012, at 9:00 a.m. A library card in good standing is required for all Suffolk Public Library computer classes.

(more)

North Suffolk Public Library is located at 2000 Bennett's Creek Park Road. For more information, contact the library at (757) 514-7150.

###