Suffolk City Manager to be Recognized at COMPA Luncheon

SUFFOLK, VA (September 29, 2010) Suffolk City Manager Selena Cuffee-Glenn will be recognized by the Conference of Minority Public Administrators at the 28th annual conference Friday, October 1. Cuffee-Glenn was recently selected as a recipient of a 2010 Distinguished Public Service Award by the organization.

Award recipients were selected based on a solid track record of distinguished public service by strengthening families and/or communities, a commitment to the professionalism and sensitivity of public service that affects change in the community and dedicated leadership, creativity and integrity.

COMPA is a national organization primarily devoted to providing professional development opportunities for all of America's minority public administrators. COMPA became a section of ASPA (American Society for Public Administration) as a result of concern for institutional and social barriers to the professional development and employment of minority administrative talent in all levels of public service.

The award will be presented during the Conference Luncheon in Williamsburg on Friday, October 1, 2010.
