A Night of "Poetry, Prose & Pizza" In Suffolk

SUFFOLK, VA (January 7, 2011) In celebration of Black History Month, the Suffolk Art Gallery and the Suffolk Art League present "Poetry, Prose & Pizza". Join us on Thursday, February 10th from 6-9 p.m. at the Suffolk Museum, 118 Bosley Avenue, for an evening of "open mic" poetry and song.

This free, unique event will be hosted by renowned writer/poet Nathan Richardson. Mr. Richardson is an internationally known writer who was born in Suffolk and calls Hampton Roads home. He will read poetry which reflects his unique perspective on the African-American experience in Suffolk.

Mr. Richardson has been a featured author at numerous literary conferences, including Christopher Newport University, The Hampton Roads Writers, and James River Writers' Conferences. He has had multiple appearances in the Tidewater Community College and Paul D. Camp Community College Literary Festivals.

"Poetry, Prose & Pizza" is open to youth as well as adults. Poets and writers throughout Hampton Roads are invited to share in this diverse experience. Pizzas will be provided courtesy of Sal's Pizza at Burnett's Way. For more information, please contact the Suffolk Art Gallery at 514-7284.
