

NEWS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

November 12, 2010

Contact:

Debbie George
757.514.4106
757.374.1770

David Seals
757.514.4105

Suffolk's Grand Illumination at Market Park

SUFFOLK, VIRGINIA (November 12, 2010)—A sure sign of the season is dropping temperatures and falling leaves. But don't get "blue", because just the right event to illuminate your holiday spirit is happening in Suffolk.

The Suffolk Grand Illumination is scheduled for November 19, 2010. Join us at Market Park, which is right next to Seaboard Station Railroad Museum at 326 North Main Street for all the fun starting at 6 p.m.

The Grand Illumination features the lighting of a 32-foot tree with thousands of sparkling white lights. We'll have hot apple cider on hand to ward off any "Jack Frost" nipping at your nose. We also invite you to lend us your voice as we sing favorite Christmas Carols. And for young and old kids alike, a special visitor from the North Pole will "sled" by to make sure you've been "nice" this year.

Donations of new winter apparel and new or gently used toys will be collected by the Youth Advisory Council at the Grand Illumination. All donations will go to youth in need in Suffolk this winter season.

The Suffolk Grand Illumination Celebration is free and open to all. For more details, you can call 757-514-7267.

###