NEWS RELEASE

SUFFOLK, Va. (December 19, 2010) – Suffolk Police are asking for assistance from the public in locating a man that has not been seen since he was involved in an early morning accident several days ago.

On December 15, Suffolk Police were called to the scene of a single vehicle accident in the 3600 blk. of Longstreet Ln. Upon arrival they found an overturned vehicle without an operator. Through investigation police learned the vehicle was last observed being operated by Solomon Blow, age 36, of Suffolk.

Last night, Blow's family members reported him missing to Suffolk Police. They advised that there had been no known contact with Blow since the night before the accident.

Today police aided by Suffolk Fire and Rescue's Search and Rescue Team, Tidewater Search and Rescue, Virginia Beach Air Unit and Hampton Police K-9 searched the wooded area around the 3600 blk. of Longstreet Ln. Blow was not located.

All evidence and follow up investigation suggest Blow walked away from the accident scene. Police are asking anyone that may know Blow's whereabouts or has seen Blow since the morning of December 15 to contact Crime Line at 1-888-Lock-U-Up or Detective C. Balzer at 757-514-7944.
